Third Group of Mexicans Repatriated

Families Aided by County Welfare Department Will Be Sent Home

LOS ANGELES.—(C.N.S.)—Indigent Mexicans and their families living in agricultural areas of Los Angeles county will be repatriated to Mexico under action of the board of supervisors in an appropriation of $12,000 additional for this work. This group, the third in recent months, will be returned in March.

The appropriation, the third one for this purpose, was made upon recommendation of W. A. Hartman, county superintendent of charities, who stated that these indigents cost the welfare department almost as much a month to maintain here as the expense incident to returning them to Mexico.

Supervisor Frank L. Shaw, head of the supervisory committee on charities, stated four trains would be used to take the group back to Mexico, where they will be accepted at the border by the Mexican government and distributed to their former homes in the neighboring republic.

Two of the trainloads will be taken to El Paso for distribution by the Mexican government from Juarez, across the Mexican border there, and the other two trains will transport the indigents to Nogales, for distribution by Mexican authorities from that point.

where the issue now awaits decision.

"Meantime, the nation has undergone an economic depression that has reduced the value of all securities, and it would be next to impossible to find a fair market even for bonds of this normally strong and growing community. Our bonds cannot be sold at par, or at the price required by law. Hence, it is my conviction as a citizen of Torrance, that no time should be lost in building up the local plant now in operation to a point as near perfection as possible. I believe that an amicable arrangement can be worked out in the interests of our city. It was with that understanding that I accepted the position as president and general manager of the water company. I am not in sympathy with the former policy of ignoring public demand for an improved service. In fact, it is my intention to better the service as quickly and as extensively as possible. I expect, and shall welcome, the cooperation of the public. I know and understand local conditions. The people of Torrance have my pledge that I shall work in the interests of the water users. I realize that giving good service is good business policy, and want the support of my fellow citizens in this undertaking. In fact, did I not feel that I would be their representative, I would not have given up my connection with the bank, nor would I have considered resigning from the city council to which voters of our city.

"I am familiar with the affairs of the water company to some extent, but it will require some time, and considerable study, to gain complete knowledge of the water problems that must be solved. However, as I am to give all my time to this task, I assure you that improved conditions may be expected at the earliest possible date."

It is understood that the eastern management of the Associated Public Utilities Corporation has undergone a complete change. It will be remembered that it was representatives of the bondholders of this corporation that attempted to negotiate with the city authorities about a year ago. These bondholders now seem to have effected a change in the personnel of the eastern directorate. Rupert E. Shotts is now president of the Associated Public Utilities Corporation and was recently in Torrance making a thorough study of the situation. At that time he met Nelson, going to him for accurate information about local conditions, which was the prelude resulting in a definite offer being made to Nelson to assume the duties of president and general manager of the local water company.

According to Nelson, all conversations with Shotts have centered around the new policy of decentralization of the eastern corporation. In other words, it is recognized that eastern management of a purely local enterprise is unsatisfactory to both the eastern stockholders and the local community which the company is in duty bound to serve. Under Shotts, the decentralization policy has gone into effect and means that in the future the Torrance Water, Light and Power Company will be run by local people who know and understand local problems and have faith in the future of Torrance. Nelson states that the personnel of the new board of directors will soon be announced.

Following their annual custom, the Latin students have set the date for their annual Roman banquet to be held on March 31. The tables are set in the style of ancient Rome, the guests appear wearing the conventional toga of Julius Caesar's time, and recline on couches from which they serve themselves with the customary Roman delicacies. The tableware was unknown in those days the guests out with their fingers, and are keenly aware of the real purpose of a finger bowl. The Latin banquet has been an institution of long standing at Narbonne, and teachers and pupils in the Latin classes join in the ceremony with enthusiasm.

Floyd Carpenter won the cross country run held last Friday. This is the third time Floyd has had his name engraved on the cup.

LOMITA.—John Hislop, age 78, who formerly resided at 1700 Oak street, was the victim of a shocking accident several days ago from the results of which the aged man lost his life. Mr. Hislop had resided in Los Angeles for several years. Formerly he was engaged in the raising of avocados in partnership with Rutherford Larson at their Lomita ranch. He was one of the first settlers in Lomita.

Electric Cookery Demonstrated at Cooking School

The wizardry of electric cookery is being demonstrated during the Torrance Herald-Safeway Stores Cooking School by Miss B. Edna Galvin, home economist in charge of the school. Two Hotpoint General Electric ranges have been installed on the stage at the Woman's Clubhouse by W. G. McWhinnie of Hermosa Beach, distributor for General Electric ranges and refrigerators for this district.

Women attending the school are shown the cleanliness, comfort and convenience of electric cookery. A bouquet of fresh flowers sets upon the oven of one of the ranges, unharmed and unwithed, because of the perfect insulation of the General Electric range.

Cooking with electricity is now actually faster than with other fuels, due to the magic of General Electric's million dollar invention, the high-speed CALROD unit. Snap the switch and the oven will reach cooking temperature while you prepare the dishes.

General Electric ranges save in many ways over old-fashioned fuels, because the heat is controlled, not wasted. Power companies make special rates to electric range owners, frequently reducing the cost of lighting as well as saving the cost of other fuels. And roads do not shrink as they do when cooked with flame, according to Mr. McWhinnie.

When you go to the cooking school, notice the attractive appearance of the two different models of General Electric refrigerator. If you are interested in learning more about this modern kitchen equipment, call W. G. McWhinnie, Redondo 3783, and a representative will call at your convenience.
